We will also manage the information that you provide to us on the website by entering or clicking as good family man to execute the goals that you can expect from us for the good.

If the information you provide or that we collect includes sensitive personal information, such as national identification numbers (eg social security, driver's license ...), full credit card information or personal bank card numbers, medical information or specific information regarding treatment or care of private individuals. If this is the case, then they are specifically mentioned in the processing register.

Email statistics

Without systematically established procedures, we can follow up and analyze emails based on specific measurement points (such as: click, open, bounce, etc.) and the number of emails sent and opened to evaluate the efficiency of communication.

Obligation and impact to give or not give your personal data

We need certain information about you as an organization to meet our legal, contractual or other obligations. Without this information we may not be able to properly deliver our services and / or goods.

How do we protect your data?

For its products and services, Co-Dex.eu applies an internal policy which imposes high security standards and we attach great importance to the security and data integrity of our customers and users. These measures are regularly adapted to new regulations and according to market developments.

Thus, in accordance with applicable laws, Co-Dex.eu takes all necessary precautions to protect information and, in particular, to protect information from accidental or illegal destruction, loss, corruption, transmission or unauthorized access, authorized, as well as against any other form of unlawful processing or disclosure to unauthorized persons. In addition, the employees of Co-Dex.eu are required to maintain confidentiality and cannot communicate your data to third parties without authorization.

To this end, the industry of Co-Dex.eu implements standard measures and good practices to protect personal data against unauthorized disclosure. Using industry-recommended encryption technology and other techniques, Co-Dex.eu takes the necessary steps to process your data securely.

However, there is no absolute security against hacking or accidents. This is why Co-Dex.eu undertakes to inform you immediately in the event of a breach of the security of your data and which may have major consequences for you; and make every effort to mitigate the consequences. If you suffer a loss due to the exploitation by a third party of a security breach, Co-Dex.eu undertakes to provide you with all the assistance necessary so that you can assert your rights.

Please note that any user, client or hacker who discovers and abuses a security breach is liable to criminal prosecution and that Co-Dex.eu will take all measures, including filing a complaint and / or initiation of legal proceedings, in order to preserve the data and the rights of its users and itself and to limit the consequences of this abuse.

Wat kan u doen om uw gegevens te beschermen?

We do everything we can to protect your data, but you can also consider the following measures to protect yourself:

- Install antivirus software, anti-spyware software and a firewall and make sure they are kept up to date;
- Do not leave your equipment and means of access (such as your bank card) unattended;
- Immediately report the loss of your means of authentication, payment cards or other to the distributor of the lost item or for payment cards to Card Stop (+32 70 344 344);
- Disconnect from applications or systems when you are not using them;
- If you do not use your identification tokens, your electronic card or other means of authentication, put it away, otherwise it will remain useful for hackers in many cases;
- Keep your passwords strictly confidential (do not pass them on to anyone) and use strong passwords; avoid obvious combinations of letters and numbers;
- To manage and not forget your passwords, you can use software like KeePass;
- Change your passwords at regular intervals;
- Be careful with anything that seems unusual to you, such as a new Internet address or unusual requests (requesting customer information, payment details, or transferring payments by email).

These practices can also help you in your daily life.

Location and transfer of data

The servers that store and process your data, including databases, are located entirely within the European Union. If this changes, we will take the necessary steps described in the "Third Party Information" above.

Co-Dex.eu will immediately inform you, if we are authorized to do so, in the event of a request from an administrative or legal authority concerning your data.

How long do we process your personal data

We keep your data as long as it is necessary for the purposes for which it is processed. After this period, we put in place workable archiving or deletion solutions.

When deciding how long to store your data, we also need to take into account the retention requirement that other applicable laws may impose (e.g. anti-money laundering legislation). We may also store your data as evidence in all legal cases. In this case, this data will not be used actively. Therefore, there is no general retention period for your data - it varies depending on the purposes for which your data is processed. For example, payment data must be kept for up to seven years after the tax year following the tax code; surveillance camera recordings are kept for a shorter period, in particular a maximum of 30 days, as required by law.

Detail

To see the details of the retention period, read the section "Why do we process your personal data?".

How to contact us

Co-Dex.eu has appointed a Data Protection Officer or Data Protection Officer, namely Wim Barthier.

If you have any questions about this privacy statement and how we use your data, you can contact us through our regular channels:

- Contact the Co-Dex.eu, your account manager or your helpdesk;
- Call us at +32 47 39 33 43 0;
- Send us an e-mail with the reference "confidentiality" to wim@co-dex.be.

If you do not agree or if you have complaints regarding the processing of your data, you can send your request with the reference "privacy" via:

- Courier: Co-Dex.eu, attn. Complaint management, Albert I-laan 23, 8920 Langemark-Poelkapelle, Belgium (België);
- e-Mail: wim@co-dex.be.

When you contact us, we have an obligation to identify you formally. For example, we may ask you to go to an office of Co-Dex.eu where you can identify yourself. We may also ask you to present a valid identity card or passport. If you wish to identify yourself via your identity card by post, please make your national register number unrecognizable and indicate your telephone number. This information can then be used to identify you as a data subject. If the controller considers that you cannot identify yourself sufficiently, he can only respond in a generic manner without giving you information about a specific person, in order to avoid an offense or an incident if someone presents himself as another person.

A list with the contact details of the departments responsible within Co-Dex.eu and of the data protection authorities in the countries where Co-Dex.eu operates is available at +32 47 39 33 43 0.

If you think that your rights or freedoms have not been respected, despite our efforts, you can contact the Data Protection Authority at the contact details provided on their website: <https://www.gegevensbeschermingsautoriteit.be/contact>
